

Stay on Track Reading At Home: Grades 6-8

The very best way to keep on track with your reading is to find ways to get your hands on articles, books or audiobooks you enjoy, and spend some time reading or listening each and every single day.

LSMS Students! If you have lots of books in your house, challenge yourself to read as many of them as you can! You never know what great books might be laying around that you just haven't taken the time to discover yet! Keep a list of all the titles you've completed and bring it to school with you when you return. Slay that 40 Book Challenge!! If you do not have easy access to the items you want, there are several online resources you can use to access articles, books, and audiobooks! See below:

Step One: Find materials that interest you!

Scour your house, spend your own money on Amazon.com, or use the Internet to find reading material of your choice.(See below) Visit the Teacher Webpages for your LSMS Reading Specialists, Mrs. Pupo and Mrs. Jones for links to online resources you can use to find free, online reading material!

Step Two: Read, read, read up a storm!

Try to set aside some time each day, (right when you wake up in the morning might be a great time!) for free reading time. Get yourself comfortable, and try to limit distractions. If you are using audio, use headphones to help block out outside noises.

Step Three: Record your thoughts on what you've read!

Our teacher webpages have ideas to help you create your own journal pages so you can express your thoughts, questions, and opinions about the things you are reading. Keep a journal, google doc, or a folder and bring it back to school with you to share in English class. We can't wait to see you again and hear about all the interesting things you have been reading and thinking about!!
