With your partner, please discuss and answer the following thoughts/questions. Be prepared to discuss. These are not yes or no questions, defend your response with reasons/cause.

Should an ethical person always, under all circumstances, be honest?

Is there a time when it stops being ethical to remain loyal to a friend?

Is it always ethical to obey an authority figure (for example, your boss)? Why or why not?

Does being ethical always mean being fair?

Are reliable people necessarily ethical people?

Is it ethical if you know someone is behaving unethically but you remain quiet about it?
